What do you want?

So often Jesus asks the question, "What do you want?" He does this because he wants to engage us in relationship and help us discover our true desires.

What do you think?

In Mark 7 verse 20 Jesus says "It's what comes out of a person that pollutes: obscenities, lusts, thefts, murders, adulteries, greed, depravity, deceptive dealings, carousing, mean looks, slander, arrogance, foolishness—all these are vomit from the heart. There is the source of your pollution." We all need to understand how our thinking affects our well-being, so it's vital we explore the misuse of our imagination.

Where are you?

God in the Garden of Eden, even though he knew where they were, asks Adam and Eve, "Where are you?" He wanted them to come out of hiding to re-establish relationship, and he wants the same for us.
